TARGET PERSONA

Digitally savvy teens and young adults who frequently engage in group snacking and enjoy influencer-driven entertainment on their mobile devices, particularly during social hangouts or solo downtime.

VALUE PROPOSITION

General Mills will deploy AR-enabled packaging across major snack brands, allowing users to scan packs with their smartphones to access exclusive, influencer-hosted challenges and mini-games. The content will be updated regularly, fostering ongoing discovery and sustained consumer engagement. Authentic influencer partnerships will encourage social sharing and directly align with the mobile-first, digitally engaged habits of the target audience. This approach supports rapid content refreshes, broad participation, and maintains retail compliance and brand safety, all while delivering measurable engagement and driving repeat purchases within a cost-effective operational model.

BUSINESS IMPACT

By integrating engaging digital experiences with product usage, this program will boost retail sales, encourage repeat purchases, and deepen brand loyalty. Trackable, influencer-led interactions will expand snack occasions and strengthen consumer engagement, all within feasible operational limits.
