TARGET PERSONA

Health-conscious millennial parents in urban and suburban areas who prioritize transparency, sustainability, and ethical sourcing when choosing packaged foods for their families.

VALUE PROPOSITION

General Mills offers a real-time digital tracker for its top products, providing transparent access to ingredient sourcing, sustainability metrics, and impact stories. By scanning product packaging or browsing online, consumers can see exactly where ingredients come from, how products meet sustainability benchmarks, and read authentic stories about community and environmental impact. This solution empowers millennial parents to make informed, values-driven choices aligned with their desire for traceability and cultural credibility, while supporting General Mills' commitment to openness and responsible sourcing practices.

BUSINESS IMPACT

This tracker will build consumer trust and brand loyalty among a highly influential segment, fostering repeat purchases and positive word-of-mouth. It will differentiate General Mills products through transparency, enhancing both demand and the brand's cultural relevance.
